Dear Mr. Lee,

Ever since I helped my younger sister prepare for her prom night, I've loved transforming people through the art of makeup. Over the past two years, I've pursued this passion by volunteering for the Look Good, Feel Better Organization where I've helped boost the self-esteem of 100+ patients with cancer by giving them makeovers. I'm now ready to turn my interest in this art form into a career as a Makeup Artist at Studio 96.

Since high school, I've been working as a Customer Service Representative, most recently at L.A. Girl Cosmetics. This experience has given me the chance to:

- Learn about and test 200+ different makeup products
- Make sure you quantify (add numbers to) these bullet points
- A cover letter with numbers is 100% better than one without

While I enjoy the customer interaction side of being a Customer Service Representative, it doesn't satisfy my need for a creative outlet. Thus, I signed up for the 150-hour course in Makeup Artistry offered by Los Angeles-based Sonique Academy to boost my skills and take the first step towards becoming a professional Makeup Artist.

As a long-time fan of Studio 96 and its avant-garde approach to makeup application, I look forward to the opportunity to further discuss how my interpersonal skills and creativity can help create an excellent experience for your customers. Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,
